ABOUT HKA

HKA is the new name for the Construction Claims Group of Hill International and associated subsidiaries Knowles and Cadogans following its sale and de-merger from Hill International, Inc. HKA has over 900 professionals in more than 40 offices in 20 countries worldwide.

Course Overview:

This is a vital course for anyone involved with NEC contracts who requires a good practical understanding of the changes in NEC 4. It's ideal for employers, employer's representatives – project managers, quantity surveyors, engineers, architects etc, contractors, subcontractors and suppliers. Issues covered include:

Communications

- Can emails now be used for notifying Compensation Events?
- Can intranet systems be used for communicating?

Risk Management

- How has the early warning system changed?

Programmes

- How does the new default mechanism work when a programme has been submitted to the Project Manager, but has not been accepted?
- What additional information on Compensation Events is to be included in programmes for acceptance?

Payment

- How has the payment regime changed?
- How does the new final account regime work?
- Can daywork rates for labour and staff now be agreed in advance?
- How do the new value engineering clauses work?
- Should you opt for retention bonds?

Compensation Events

- Are there changes to the list of compensation events?
- What are the changes to the fee percentages?
- Has the Schedule of Cost Components changed significantly?
- What is the 'dividing date'?

Other

- How are collateral warranties dealt with?
- What are the changes to the dispute resolution clauses?
- What changes in terminology do we need to be aware of?
- How has BIM been addressed?
- When should the new Alliance and DBO Contracts be used?
